

Twelfth
LETTER TO THE PEOPLE OF GERMANY AND THE WORLD

Dear people in Germany!

Several generations of catastrophic suffering imbued our genes with the experience of being able to save ourselves by more and more work, which we often confuse with conscientiousness - which in some cases it is.

But please be aware that you have two courses of action:

One is: through your work and fulfilment of all your "obligations" to maintain the (infra-)structure in Germany, the other is: to stop functioning.

Think carefully about which option is the wiser one in each case!

Non-action, non-participation can also be right action!

It is precisely the tireless work of so many responsible people, which makes them sink into bed at the end of the day, exhausted, that prevents so many people from being aware of our situation, They simply don't have the time.

A heartbreakingly authentic account, which describes with a very clear and very knowledgeable view the doom that came upon Germany, is Wilhelm's memoir, the eldest son of Wilhelm II, according to the understanding of that time Crown Prince of the German Empire and Prussia, who from his loneliness-embraced island in the Zuider Zee in complete self-sacrifice, after his "abdication" sent an advice and burning wish to the people of Germany. His last words, from September 1921, in this book are as follows:

"Believe me: a German people who bury their party quarrels, which frees itself from the dull materialism of these last years and that, united in love for our fatherland, which has become poor and yet is so wonderfully beautiful, with the indomitable determination to throw off its chains, struggles for its freedom - such a German people can break its ties!

I am not calling for revenge and not for weapons and violence.

I call upon the German spirit, let it grow stronger: for the spirit creates the deed and the destiny, and senseless is the tool without it. - Perhaps this sentence is the key to the destiny we have been going through for an age - and to the other, into which, if we gather our best forces hard, we shall stride as conquerors of all foes."

(Kronprinz Wilhelm: Erinnerungen, Hrsg. Karl Rosner; J.G. Cotta'sche Buchhandlung Nachfolger, Stuttgart und Berlin, 1922)

Dear people in Germany and all over the world!

Thor's hammer is a weapon of energy, not brute physical force, and it is this weapon that we are now bringing to bear:

We now fight back not with physical violence on the streets, but with the sharp bright energy of our spirit/minds, our thoughts.

We come to ourselves, we know again who we are.

We have the white bright power, the white dragon, the white lightning.

It is a very sharp and powerful weapon, it shatters the centre of darkness,
the singularity, which the enemies of humanity occupied in order to install a globe of crime on Earth.

They have not broken our soul,
it now stands full and ready.

The masculine fight continues and leads to the punishment of the criminals.
The feminine fight also continues, ending in the laughter of the world at the nameless arrogance and ridiculousness of the self-declared "world elite" of power.

The world will become so beautiful again that everything will blossom, and the little girls will be able to believe in princes again.
Later, the storytellers will say: "It had to be a gardener who made the world bloom again."

Germany will overcome the decades of gaslighting that so distorted people's perceptions, to shake off apathy and with a tremendous will to live as a master of reconstruction put all its strength into the service of humanity, in order to work together with all the peoples of Earth and in peace with them to build a truly beautiful world.

Greetings to you,
You brave ones! Resourceful! Undaunted! Loving ones!

Yours
Stefan Ratzeburg
